

Shepherding Hope - Achieving Hope

The Good Shepherd School is proud of the achievements of their students and graduates. Good Shepherd graduates statistically perform better and achieve greater heights, academically, than their peers both locally and nationally.

College enrollment for children from low-income families:

- U.S. - 46%
- New Orleans - 59%

✓ The Good Shepherd School - 96%

Angel, GSS class of 2011

On-time high school graduation rate for African-American and/or low-income students:

- U.S. - 71%
- New Orleans - 70%

✓ The Good Shepherd School - 100%

The greatest indicator of the Good Shepherd School and Nativity model success is the accomplishments of our students – especially in the face of the socioeconomic challenges they encounter.

All of The Good Shepherd School high-school age graduates are in high-performing parochial and public high schools. Additionally, 25 of the Good Shepherd's 26 college-aged graduates are thriving in college. Colleges and universities that Good Shepherd graduates attend include: Rice University, Florida A&M University, University of Mobile, Louisiana Tech, Xavier, Delgado, Dillard, UNO, LSU, University of Southern Mississippi, Cornell College of Iowa, Southern University, Loyola University of Chicago, and Southeastern Louisiana University.